Casino Magic chops 250-300 from payroll

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Casino Magic -- newly licensed for another two years -- laid off 250 to 300 employees Friday.
All but about 30 of the workers were employed at the casino in Bay St. Louis. The others lost their jobs from Casino Magic in Biloxi.
Casino spokesman Len James Giacone said the reduction in workforce was long overdue, because the casino has been overstaffed since last fall. Impacted were dealers, food and beverage personnel, security personnel and floor personnel.

Many of the workers who got two-week severance pay on Friday had been added to staff the extra gambling boat the casino brought to town last summer, he said. When the peak season ended, the extra boat set sail, but the workers remained on the payroll, Giacone said.
The workforce hadn't been reduced because the casino had anticipated adding gaming areas to its base in Bay St. Louis. "And we still are" planning expansion, he said.
But the casino wanted to concentrate all of its efforts on constructing a $50 million 428-room hotel first, according to Giacone.

Piles are being driven for the facility near the casino barge at Bay Cove Marina. While the foundation work is in progress, the city of Bay St. Louis is awaiting site plans for the facility. No building permit can be issued until the site plans are approved by the city.
Thursday, the Gaming Commission agreed to re-license the local casino. Its original permit was to expire at the end of April.
The casino operates on a 530-acre site, with some 39,500 square feet of gaming space, including 1,100 slot machines and 68 table games. It has a large recreational vehicle park and, in addition to the hotel, plans to build an 18-hole golf course.
The hotel is expected to include banquet and meeting space to accommodate up to 600 people, with an enclosed swimming pool, health club and about 40 suites.
Giacone said the "staff adjustments" will leave some 1,650 to 1,700 people on the payroll. Terming the layoffs "unfortunate," Giacone said the workers had been well-trained and should easily find jobs at other casinos in the area.
Giacone said the staff reductions are not expected to impact levels of services at the casino.
Asked if the cuts were reflective of the casino's financial health, Giacone said, "No. This is something were late in doing." He said the employees were given two weeks' pay, in addition to any accrued benefits such as vacation.

County ag agent praised by board

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Hancock County officials Thursday praised the services of county agricultural agent Drew Bates, who was criticized publicly last week by a local farmer.
Bates told the Board of Supervisors he was "bewildered" by the complaint that had been leveled against him concerning his response to a request for help.
Bates said he'd been contacted by the farmer in question, John Lee, and was told that more than half of Lee's watermelon crop had perished. After discussing what type of fertilizers Lee had used and how it had been applied, Bates said he asked Lee to take soil samples to the county office so they could be sent off for tests. Bates said that was the right action to take, since the rest of the crop had recovered from whatever had killed part of it.

The next day, when Lee's complaint was published, Bates went to Lee's farm and spent several hours there discussing the watermelon situation, he said.
Lee had complained to supervisors that he'd been told it would be two weeks before Bates could see him. He also complained that other farmers aren't even aware that the

The 1994 Hancock County Salute to Business and Industry Award of Excellence went to Star Export Service, Inc., of Port Bienville Industrial Park.
The award was given along with five others on Friday at the eighth annual Hancock County Salute to Business and Industry Awards held at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The annual breakfast was sponsored by the Port and Harbor Commission, the Board of Supervisors and the Chamber of Commerce.

The cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and Diamondhead Business and Professional Association also joined in presenting the six awards.
Others receiving awards were, Industry of the Year, Alcan Cable of Bay St. Louis; Hancock County Business of the Year, Armand's, Waveland; Bay St. Louis Business of the Year, Carter Church Designs; Waveland Business of the Year, Jack's Restaurant and Lounge; and Diamondhead Business of the Year, Betty Adams Southern Charm, Gift Shop and Southern Child.
Port and Harbor Commission president, David McDonald received a plaque honoring him for his 20 years on the commission.

County studies shifting waste duties

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Hancock County officials Thursday toyed with the idea of transferring all of its garbage responsibilities to the new Solid Waste Management District.
Under such a plan the district would be responsible for the county landfill operation and for financing the collection and disposal of refuse countywide. The district would receive proceeds of the 3.8-mill tax levy the county currently has in place for waste operations, as well as the monthly fees charged per house for collection services.
The district, in turn, would be responsible for all waste operations.
Meeting in a workshop session Thursday, the Board of Supervisors agreed to keep an existing, more complex arrangement in place but to further consider full consolidation of waste services during budget deliberations this fall.
The district is comprised of the county and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. It recently unified all refuse collections under a single contract, and disposal of the waste under a separate contract.
The cities and the county set their own per-house fees for collecting refuse, and then pay the district a proportionate share for disposal. Bay St. Louis is in charge of billing and collecting for the county.
Thursday's meeting was called because there were questions over the amount the county is paying the district for administrative costs and disposal charges.
Les Fillingame, secretary for the district, said the county's 59 percent share of the costs was calculated solely on the number of homes in the unincorporated area: just over 9,000. Bay St. Louis, with a house count of almost 3,400, picks up 22 percent of the tab, while Waveland, with 2,856 homes pays 18.6 percent.

Supervisors, however, questioned the fairness of paying 59 percent of the district's total disposal costs because they doubt the unincorporated, generally rural area generates that much refuse.
Fillingame said the percentage approach was adopted initially because there were no firm figures on tonnage generated by homes in the county. After several months of experience with how much waste is collected in the county, the said, the district will re-evaluate the charges and see if each entity is paying the correct share.

Meanwhile, Supervisor Michael Ladner said the project

Compromise considered on beach renourishment project

BY MARY G. SEILEY
The Hancock County beach renourishment drama intensified Friday as area officials scrambled to satisfy state and federal agencies' concerns over sea grasses.
The Board of Supervisors, in a hastily-called session with project officials, agreed to a plan that would allow sand-pumping in better than half the 1.3 mile section that the agencies had previously stricken from the project.
To salvage eight-tenths of a mile, allowing a slimmer, 150-foot-wide renourishment, county officials agreed to "mitigate" destruction of sea grasses by trying to plant new beds along the shoreline.
But how that's to be done, by whom and exactly where remained up in the air. Even federal and state officials who are insistent that the grass replanting be tried are unsure of how it's done. There's also a major question of what happens if the county tries such a program and fails.

Meanwhile, time is running out for the county's project, and the proposed city of Bay St. Louis addition to it. Tom Windes of T.L. James Co. said his workers will reach Dane Street as early as Wednesday, and begin demolishing unless officials have resolved the issues by then.
The county was under contract with the James firm to pump a 200-foot wide beach from Washington Street to the Paddlewheel Motel area. Recently, however, the state Bureau of Marine Resources told the county that sea grasses in a 1.3-mile southernmost stretch of the area are too important to be destroyed by the project.
After a meeting with the board Tuesday, BMR's deputy director, Joe Gill, assembled a meeting of all state and federal agencies involved in the permitting process to search for a compromise position.

That meeting took place Thursday in Mobile, and sparked Friday's impromptu session of the board.
Project engineer Bill Mitchell said state and federal officials were willing to allow a 150-foot-wide beach to be pumped south of Dane Street, skipping a couple of areas most heavily cov-

Local fire fighters not selling tickets

Local fire fighters do not receive any funds from ticket sales to a 'Fireman's Ball & Concert,' according to Hancock County Fire Marshal Richard Pate.
Pate said his office has received several calls from area residents checking out telephone solicitors claiming to represent local firemen.

"The same thing happened last year," Pate said. "We are not affiliated with any group or organization which is currently calling people to sell tickets, and we get absolutely no money from these ticket sales," Pate added.

Police cars purchased

Bay St. Louis city officials accepted a bid last week for four new police cars.
The new Ford Crown Victoria vehicles, fully equipped, will be bought from East Ford in Jackson for $13,191 each, for a total of $52,764.

Officials agreed to pay an extra $400 to have the vehicles delivered. Police Chief Frank McNeil said it would cost more than that to dispatch officers to retrieve the cars.

St Ann's offers special programs

St. Ann Catholic Church sponsors special workshops at St. Ann Parish Hall April 27, May 4, 11 and 25, 9-11 a.m. Instructor is Sister Ann Crouse, RSM, Diocesan Family Life director.

Workshops include: Sessions one and two: Self-esteem and the Addictive Thinker.

Are you stuck in addictive thinking? Do you beat yourself up for what you "should have done?" Do you let fear dominate your life?

The first two sessions deal with the core beliefs of addictive thinking and how we may apply them to ourselves.

Sessions three and four: The Ten Principles of Healing My

Self-esteem

These sessions deal with applying the principles of healing to any part of one's life: to fears, relationships, jobs, your addictions.

As you practice them and see them work, you become more confident that you can change your life. This confidence strengthens your faith in yourself and eventually becomes a part of you.

We are empowered when we think of ourselves as survivors instead of victims. We need to accept responsibility for our thoughts, feelings, actions, as well as learn that healing comes from the inside out, not the outside in.

Mormons to host open house today

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is hosting an open house Sunday, April 24 at 7 p.m., located corner Nicholson and McLaurin in Waveland.

The evening is an endorsement of the "National Year of the Family." There will be a broadcast via satellite and presentations focusing on strengthening the family, family values, family history resources and journals.

Export Services opened for business at Port Bienville in 1978. The company leases the port from the county and operates it as a public port, managing the facilities and providing warehouse and stevedore services. Star Export employees 26.

Star Export is an extension of Atlas Powder International, and both companies are owned by ICI Explosives USA of Dallas.

Man hours at the port in 1991 were 47,570, with that figure increasing to 69,971 in 1993. Tonnage in 1988 was 27,318, with an increase to 65,675 in 1993.

Alcan Cable opened in Bay St. Louis in 1975 with 44 employees. Today's workforce is at 130 in the plant that produces 600-volt overhead and underground service entrance cable.

Alcan in Bay St. Louis sells approximately $60 million of cable a year to customers across the country.

Chef Armand Jonte honed his culinary skills at Gautreaux's in New Orleans before becoming chef at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Today, Armand's Restaurant on Highway 90 in Waveland offers creative dining a Creole manner. Armand changes the restaurant's menu daily, and prepares international specialties for his customers.

Betty Adams opened her store, Southern Charm, in 1981 in Diamondhead's Bali Hi Shopping Center. The gift shop opened in 1982, in 1984 she added a nationally franchised Hallmark Card Shop and in 1992 she opened Southern Child, a complete children's clothing, toy and gift shop. Her husband Joe opened a cleaning service next door in 1983 and later added a laundromat. Betty Adams was one of the three founders of the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association.

Carter Church Designs opened in Bay St. Louis in 1988. Bay St. Louis offered Church a much more creative atmosphere in which to design couture fashions and famed Mardi Gras royalty costumes for Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama krewes.

Church has been honored by his peers through Fashion Group International with over 80 awards spanning his 25-year career, including the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award.

Jack's Restaurant and Lounge was originally opened as Marti's Deli and became Jack's Restaurant and Lounge when Nancy Fintel, who was also the chef, took over the Coleman Avenue business.

The present owner, Donna Holt, started working there as a teenager in 1976 waiting tables. In 1989, she and her husband, Al, purchased the business from Fintel. Al is now chef and the Hols have improved and upgraded what was already a great dining experience.

Bay St. Louis city officials hope to slow down some casino-goers soon -- and to expedite their departures.

In action Tuesday, City Council agreed to the police chief's recommendation for a 25-mile-per-hour speed limit on Beach Boulevard, all the way to Waveland, where the limit already has been lowered to 25.

The action won't affect the 15-mile-per-hour limit in front of St. Stanislaus.

Police Chief Frank McNeil said 30-mile-per hour signs in the affected areas will be removed and replaced within a few days. He said the city may issue warning tickets initially to those who are caught going 30, but citations are in order for excessive speeders.

McNeil said radar-equipped units will be in place along the route, at unspecified times.

City and county officials have aired numerous complaints in recent weeks about speeding along Beach Boulevard. Jubilee casino-goers use that route in addition to Lakeshore Road.

McNeil urged motorists to slow down along Beach Boulevard, considering the children and tourists who'll be along the beach front increasingly as spring progresses. He said the lower limit will enable motorists to enjoy the view as they drive along the beachfront -- those going over 25 are going to miss the scenery, he said.

Meanwhile, the city continues to prepare to improve the intersection of Blue Meadow Road and Highway 90, heavily used by Casino Magic patrons.

Improvement plans include creating a right turn lane off Blue Meadow to Highway 90, but that requires an easement the city hasn't been able to finalize with owners of the new Chevron station at the corner.

City officials hope to improve safety with the project, giving the high volume, right turn traffic its own lane. But there's a dispute over how much curbing the city will install alongside the service station to control ingress and egress.

Currently, there's no curbing and traffic often cuts through the station's lot to get onto Highway 90, rather than wait at the traffic signal.

Councilman Charles Scianna commented on the situation Tuesday, saying drivers "don't have any patience" at the light. "They're all in a hurry to get where they're going -- or in a hurry to leave where they've left."

Friday is deadline for Nereids fish tourney

What do Friday and fishing have in common?

The kickoff of the first annual Saltwater Fishing Tournament, sponsored by the Krewe of Nereids, that's what.

Friday, April 29, is the last day to enter the tournament, which will be held over the weekend.

The response has been tremendous so far, according to Tommy Kidd, who has entry forms at Daddy O's for anyone who wants to enter.

A growing competition between groups of men and women should keep weighmaster George Wright busy at the scales both Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1. Headmaster of the tournament is the Bay View Yacht Club, where Cliff Beach and his committee plan to cook 'em and clean 'em fresh from the scales at the Sunday night closing party.

Guitar Bo and Miss Dee will be there.

The entry fee is $25 and includes a crawfish boil on Friday night before the tournament and the scale closing party on Sunday after the tournament.

Entrants may bring guests to the Friday party for $5.

Waste

ram has had a significant, positive impact in the unincorporated area. Road foremen report there's much less trash being illegally dumped, he said. And he said he's stopped getting complaints from constituents about the program, which was launched April 1 in the county.

But county officials had received numerous calls before the program was implemented. It required, for the first time, that residents place their garbage in cans beside mailboxes on certain days of the week for collection, and pay a $5 monthly fee for the service.

The county closed its refuse collection centers, where residents previously had to haul their own trash.

Now that the collection system is operating smoothly, waste district officials have other matters on their platter to consider.

Fillingame and William Johnson of Compton Engineering said work needs to start immediately on waste reduction efforts — a recycling program has to be designed and implemented for the county.

In addition, the county needs to have its Standard landfill re-permitted by the state. And the old Pearlington landfill has to be covered over, in accordance with state and federal standards.

Johnson briefed the supervisors on his search for a borrow pit for landfill cover material. In response to questions by Supervisor Howard Lizana, Johnson said his firm is not on a retainer with the district.

Compton Engineering originally was hired by the county to develop a required solid waste management plan for the county, and to draw the specifications for bidders to collect and dispose of the waste.

Fillingame said the district has budgeted monthly costs for engineering and legal fees, but plans to use the money only on an as-needed basis.

Agent

county has the services of an agent assigned to help with agriculture problems.

Hancock and Harrison counties share Bates' services.

Lee said some farmers feel "left out in the cold" by that arrangement.

Supervisors had agreed with Lee that the county needs a full-time agent, rather than a part-time agent. Extension service officials on hand Thursday said they'd love to provide every county an agent, but funding prohibits them from doing so.

Dr. Joyce O'Keefe, coastal area director for the Cooperative Extension Service, and David Veal, Coastal Research and Extension Center director at Mississippi State University, briefed supervisors on their operations and funding levels. They said funding cuts have dealt a serious blow to the service's staffing levels.

Supervisor Howard Lizana said Lee's complaint was the first the county had received concerning Bates. O'Keefe said her records show that Bates has spent more time in Hancock County over the last six months than in Harrison County.

"Drew's not the problem," said Chancery Clerk Michael Nacaise. "If we could get one, we'd like to have Drew." Nacaise said of having a full-time agent assigned to Hancock County.

Bates has a PhD in horticulture and a master's degree in forestry. He's "among the best in the state," Veal said.

ered by the submerged sea grasses. Those sections are in the area of Buccaneer State Park.

But Mitchell said the agencies will require a mitigation to the loss of sea grass beds — some will have to be removed from its popular growing spots to areas that don't have much or any.

Officials said the mitigation project might be carried out by county crews or marine biology students, under the direction of an expert. But no one's identified such an expert so far, and there are serious concerns whether successful transplants are a realistic goal.

The county agreed Friday to offer an alternative mitigation project, costing up to $100,000, if the sea grass transplants don't take hold in a demonstration attempt. That could involve creating fresh water marsh elsewhere.

Gill, who wasn't at Friday's meeting, said the agencies involved all realize the "critical" need for speedy resolution of the issues. He said he felt sure the agencies will respond immediately to the county's plans.

Board members, meanwhile, were concerned by the uncertainties surrounding sea grass transplantation. Board attorney Gerald Gex said county acceptance of such a plan amounts to "a crap shoot at best."

But, he and other other officials noted that the renourishment project's main purpose, protecting the seawall from further degradation, is important enough to give it a try. Board President Michael Ladner said the county would make every effort to make the transplant project work — if it doesn't, he said, "I don't believe they'll chop your head off."

Ladner also said proceeding with he county's project beyond Dane Street would afford the city of Bay St. Louis more time to solidify its own proposed renourishment project, north of Washington Street. "We've got to think about our people in Bay St. Louis... We've got to do what we can for our neighbors."

Ironically, the State Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks granted the city a permit for a 5,000 foot stretch of renourishment on Thursday, as the county's compromise was being hammered out in Mobile.

The city hopes to renourish most of the area between Washington Street and the Highway 90 bridge — it has set aside $500,000 for the project, and officials have been working at a frantic pace to successfully "piggyback" the county's project.

Doubts were cast Friday, however, on the viability of the city's project. If the contractor is allowed to finish the county's project, there probably won't be enough sand left in the borrow pit to complete the city's project, Windes said.

That would mean the city would have to get federal and state permits to either pump sand from elsewhere, or to deepen the existing pit beyond what's now allowed under permits.

Mitchell asked T.L. James Co. officials to test the pit, and see if the sand extends deep enough to continue to draw on it.

Mitchell and Gex, meanwhile, planned to telefax the county's offer to the agencies involved Friday afternoon, and await a response by Tuesday.

Potholes are a frequent sight on some of the roads in the area, and it is something to be aware of.

On Wednesday night, walkers at the Hancock County Walking Track were busy talking about potholes.

One of the reasons was because one popped up, or should I say down, sometime during the day Wednesday.

I mean it is flat dab right in the middle of the walking track.

Jerri Benigno said, "You know I have seen many pot holes on roads, but never thought I would see one on the walking track."

There always seems to be something going on at the walking track to create an interest, and I guess a pothole is good for that, too.

It is my understanding the walking track is to be repaired sometime soon.

Motorists beware, speed limits on Beach Boulevard within the city limits of Bay St. Louis now have been reduced to 25 mph.

This means both Waveland and Bay St. Louis have reduced the top speed to 25 mph.

This is not to say speed limits are not lower than 25 mph, because there are some special road sections by schools, etc. where the limit is lower.

We have much more traffic on Beach Boulevard, and I am glad to see the limits reduced.

Traffic may look like a July 4 or Labor Day weekend every day this summer, and we have to protect especially our youngsters.

Please drive carefully.

While on the subject of the beach.

A subscriber called Wednesday to tell me about a practice she is seeing many people doing and has her boiling, and rightfully so.

She, like many residents has been keeping an eye on the progress of the new sand beach, many times sitting on the seawall watching the birds as the sand is pumped to shore.

She said she has observed numerous people walking their dogs on the new sand, and some lead their dogs to the water's edge where they do their 'business'.

They don't even take the trouble of covering it, or as she said, should have a 'pooper scooper,' or whatever and discard of it properly.

This is a terrible practice, and I think possibly one way of eliminating the problem would be the banning of dogs on the sandbeach. Who knows, this may already be on the books. I know horses are not allowed.

We need to keep our beach clear of ALL litter and dogs' 'business' is the worst of all.

Individuals can do much to prevent crime

Mississippians in virtually all walks of life can play important roles in the battle against crime, according to the Mississippi Department of Public Safety's Division of Public Safety Planning.

"Our state's law enforcement officers are some of the best-trained and most dedicated in the nation, but they alone cannot win this battle," said Donald O'Cain, Public Safety Planning's executive director.

"An extremely effective measure in reducing neighborhood crime," he said, "is to team up with neighbors in an organized effort such as a neighborhood watch. Know your neighbors, and become familiar with their routines."

O'Cain suggested having neighborhood meetings at regular intervals and to exchange names and other details such as home and work telephone numbers.

He also advocated reporting all suspicious behavior in the neighborhood immediately to law enforcement agencies.

"Look after your neighbor's house or apartment when he or she is away, and ask this individual to also look after yours," O'Cain advised. "This would include collecting newspapers and other deliveries which could indicate at a glance that nobody is home."

"Valuable assistance in increasing the safety of a neighborhood can come from a crime prevention officer," he noted. "Most city police departments will make this individual available to neighborhood groups, and, in addition to helping with neighborhood crime prevention, this officer usually will, to the extent that time permits, assist in conducting individual home security surveys."

O'Cain advised all homeowners and apartment dwellers to be sure that:

- doors and windows are not obscured by trees or shrubbery,
- all entrances are lighted at night,
- no entrances, such as the garage and inside doors, are unlocked,
- exterior doors are secured by a deadbolt,
- house or apartment numbers are prominently displayed and easily seen at night to help personnel responding to an emergency,
- there's a 180-degree peephole viewer on the main entrance door.

"No, home or apartment is totally burglar-proof," O'Cain noted, "but a secured home or apartment is much less attractive to a burglar."

O'Cain advised marking all valuables with an identifying number. Some law enforcement agencies will assist in obtaining an engraver for this purpose, he said.

"Many crimes related to motor vehicles are the result of carelessness," O'Cain noted.

"Obeying all highway safety laws, never drinking alcoholic beverages before or during the operation of a vehicle and always using safety belts are extremely important steps, but there are many more steps motorists should take to protect themselves and their vehicles," He advised motorists to:

- always have vehicle doors locked and windows rolled up enough to keep another person from reaching into the vehicle,
- keep the vehicle in gear at stop lights and signs,
- whenever possible, travel in well-lighted, busy areas,
- keep all valuables out of sight,
- never leave your key in the ignition if you leave the vehicle, even for just a few minutes,
- Determine "safe havens," such as gasoline stations, convenience stores and police and fire stations, on the daily routes of your travel,
- never pick up hitchhikers,
- avoid getting out of your vehicle in a secluded area, if at all possible. Try to drive to a well-lighted, heavily populated area if another vehicle hits your vehicle or you experience any other problem,
- never drive directly home if you think you're being followed. It may be important that the follower not know where you live. Drive to a "safe haven" until you're positive the follower is gone,
- indicate to a family member or a close associate, when feasible, where you're going and approximately when you'll be back. If you're missing for a long period of time, this information could help law enforcement officers find you.

Herbert Terry, director of Public Safety Planning's Office of Justice Programs, and Steven Njemanze, a program manager, noted that "being alert and not letting yourself become careless are two of the most important steps in preventing crime. Criminals like to prey on easy targets. Take every step now to help ensure that you, your home and your motor vehicle are not among these targets."

Youth Management Day

Winn-Dixie in Bay St. Louis participated in the company's annual Youth Management Day Saturday, April 16. Student managers participating were, from right, Eli Schneider, Robert (Bobby) Compretta, store manager; Kris Barlow, Jordan Bush, Hanah Head, Barbara Miller, Latish Moran, Michael Perniciaro, Dax Fryer, Abe Burns and Joe Martin, W-D security supervisor. The group of student managers took over as location managers and co-managers in the Bay store and as managers in every store department. Many of the part-time employees at Winn-Dixie are high school and college students. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Scare tactics on Social Security

I recently received frantic phone calls from several older Mississippi ladies who are living alone and dependent on their Social Security earnings.

Each one had been the victim of a fund-raising scam by groups, purporting to represent older Americans' interests, which erroneously claimed that the Social Security fund's solvency was threatened. The groups frightened these ladies into sending the organizations up to $25 to ensure that the women continued receiving their Social Security checks in their full amounts.

The women told me the groups made them believe they were about to lose their Social Security income, the only income they had.

Scaring older Mississippians in this way is the worst kind of meanness I know, and any organization, including one claiming to be looking out for older Americans' interests, that engages in these extortionist tactics should be subject to condemnation.

What also angers me in the legislation these money-grubbing organizations were using as the basis of their threats to wrest money away from older Americans nationwide as well as in Mississippi. Their legislative target was the constitutional amendment to balance the federal budget.

When it became apparent that we finally were going to get a vote in the Senate on the balanced budget amendment, six senior citizen groups last month launched a campaign against it, calling it "a raid on Social Security" that would cut benefits by more than $1,000 per recipient. That was and still is a lie.

The constitutional amendment to balance the budget is a clear, common sense statement of fiscal responsibility which is why public opinion polls show strong support for its adoption by Congress and the states. My own questionnaire to more than 400,000 Mississippi households in 30 counties shows that 84.4 percent support a constitutional amendment to balance the federal budget.

The Amendment's key provision simply says spending in any fiscal year "may not exceed the level of revenues" unless three-fifths of both houses of Congress vote to spend more.

It does not mandate across-the-board cuts in all spending programs. There are many places to reduce spending that would not affect programs for the elderly. In fact, older Americans would see beneficial economic effects if the federal budget were balanced as a result of less government borrowing.

Balancing the budget would boost savings, increase investment capital, and lead to business formation and more jobs. It also would make it easier to lower tax rates, which would spur economic growth even more.

Social Security is a separate trust fund. It is not causing the federal budget deficit, and its funds should not be used to reduce the deficit. That is a view shared with me by a majority of my colleagues in the Senate.

I urge any Mississippian who is threatened with scare tactics about the future of Social Security and confronted with a demand for a donation to protect their benefits to thoroughly check it out before sending these fear mongers any of their hard-earned dollars. My office will answer any questions Mississippians have about Social Security and any legislation

What education is all about

With all the turbulence surrounding education in Mississippi, such as teachers' pay, school report cards, school prayer and even violence, it seems some lose sight of what education is really all about.

The STAR Student program reminds us that education is about students — the encouragement of students to acquire knowledge in preparation for living.

For the 29th year, the Mississippi Economic Council will be honoring the state's best and brightest students and teachers at its annual membership meeting April 13. In that meeting, STAR Students and STAR Teachers from almost every school district in the state will be honored with scholarships and other awards.

In fact, the Council will recognize scholastic achievement in several of its education programs as it presents its fourth annual Education Celebration as part of that membership assembly.

Just think — almost 600 of the state's best students and best teachers assembled in one place at one time — the Mississippi Economic Council's annual membership meeting.

That's what education is all about — encouraging students to learn and honoring teachers who play such a major role in that encouragement.

This is just another way the Mississippi Economic Council — the state's largest association of business leaders — serves Mississippi and Mississippians.

Victims Rights Week

Gov. Kirk has proclaimed April 22-28 as Crime Victims Rights Week in Mississippi to coincide with National Crime Victims Rights Week.

The governor noted that "the victims of crime suffer financial, physical and emotional injuries as a result of the criminal violation, injuries that are often compounded by acts of misguided compassion in the aftermath of crime."

"Traditional practices of the criminal justice system," he said, "fail to provide victims with reasonable opportunities to be informed about the process or to participate in the proceedings."

The governor noted that "victims and their families often need practical and psychological first aid as soon as possible after a crime. There is a critical need for strong victim restitution, compensation and victim assistance programs throughout Mississippi. The Department of Public Safety fully recognizes the need to treat victims with dignity and compassion."

Donald O'Cain, executive director of the Department of Public Safety's Division of Public Safety Planning, explained that many forms of assistance are available to crime victims.

Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault coalitions, district attorney offices and local law enforcement agencies are good sources for information. Some of these organizations provide emergency shelter, crisis intervention, emotional support and criminal justice assistance.

The 1990 Mississippi Legislature demonstrated the state's concern for crime victims by authorizing the Department of Finance and Administration to establish a Crime Victim Commission. The program is 100 percent offender funded and covers medical expenses, mental health counseling and care expenses, loss of wages, loss of support for surviving dependents of deceased victims and funeral expenses incurred as a direct result of the crime.

Those wishing to gain CVCP assistance must complete a compensation claim form that may be obtained by writing the Mississippi Crime Victim Compensation Program, Box 267, Jackson 39205, or contacting the program's office by telephone at 359-6766 in the greater Jackson area or 1-800-829-6766 from other areas of the state.

Net income was $6,022,000 for the three months ended March 31, 1994, an increase of 2% over the net income of $5,911,000 earned in the first quarter of 1993.

First quarter 1993 earnings included a one-time gain of $781,000, or $.08 per share, due to a change in accounting principle.

Shareholder equity increased $18,196,000, or 11% to $178,011,000 at March 31, 1994, compared to March 31, 1993, level of $159,814,000.

Total assets of the corporation increased 2% to $2,463,202,000 over the March 31, 1993 level of $2,413,823,000.

Sunburst Bank has one location in Bay St. Louis.

Delchamps announces third quarter results

Delchamps Inc. announced net earnings for the 13-week period ended April 2, 1994 were $3,562,000, an increase of 0.8% compared with $3,534,000 earned during the same period last fiscal year.

Sales for the quarter were $265,146,000, an increase of 7.6% compared with the same period in the prior year. Sales of stores open in both 13-week periods increased 3.9%.

During the current 39-week period, Delchamps opened one supermarket, remodeled and expanded three supermarkets, and opened one liquor store.

At the end of the third quarter, the company operated 119 supermarkets in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida and 11 liquor stores in Florida. The company employs more than 8,000 associates.

Hancock Holding reports first quarter results

Hancock Holding Company announced results for the first quarter of 1994.

Net income for the quarter was $4.8 million compared to $5.9 million for the same period in 1993. Earnings per share amounted to $0.68 on 7 million average shares outstanding, compared to $0.84 on the average shares outstanding in 1993.

Commenting on the results, Leo W. Seal Jr., president and chief executive officer, said, "While our loan portfolio has shown a 9 percent growth over balances for the same period last year, earnings have declined as a result of downward repricing of our loan and investment portfolios based on lower market interest rates."

However, we anticipate increased revenues from our new investment program, long-term mortgage program, merger activity and staff consolidation."

Hancock Holding Company, headquartered in Gulfport, is the parent company of Hancock Bank in Gulfport and Hancock Bank of Louisiana in Baton Rouge, La. The company's common stock is listed on the NASDAQ National Market System and listed in the NASDAQ newspaper quotations under HancHd.

NARSE meets April 26

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARSE) Buccaneer Chapter 1729 will have its luncheon-meeting April 26 at noon at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Speakers will be Senator Bill Johnson, District 46, and State Representative J. P. Compretta of District 122 of Hancock County.

Casino Magic estimates increase in first quarter revenues, decline in net income Casino Magic Corp. said it anticipates revenues in the first quarter ended March 31, 1994, of approximately $51 million. Net income for the first quarter is expected to be in the range of $2.5 to $3 million, or 8 to 10 cents per share.

In last year's first quarter ended March 31, 1993, Casino Magic had revenues of $38.7 million and net income of $13.5 million, or 45 cents per share.

The company said the June 1993 addition of its second gaming casino on the Coast was the principal factor in its year-to-year growth in revenues.

Reduced operating margins and higher interest expense, together with unusually high new-business development costs of $2.8 million were the chief components of the decline in the first quarter net income.

In addition, due to seasonal factors, the level of business in Casino Magic's markets is typically lower in the first quarter than in the second and third quarters.

Marlin F. Torguson, president and chief executive officer, said, "Results of operations for the first quarter of a year ago reflect a period of time when there was very little competition on the Gulf Coast, and when we were operating only one casino."

"In addition, we have implemented an aggressive development program that has significantly increased our expenses relating to the identification, evaluation and development of new business opportunities. We see these development expenses as an investment in our future growth and we expect these efforts to yield new casino developments, over time, in a variety of geographic locations."

To support its future development, the company added long-term debt in 1993 which has resulted in higher interest expense. At the end of the first quarter, the company's financial liquidity was strong, and it had approximately $40 million in cash and marketable securities on its balance sheet.

The company said that details of its first quarter results will be reported in early May.

Gamblers sign two

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Mississippi Coast Gamblers of the United States Basketball League signed two players from their 1994 draft selections.
Native Biloxian Jesse Ratliff, the Gamblers first selection in the 1994 draft, and Greg Dennis, a free agent center from the Continental Basketball Association's Wichita Falls Texans, signed this past week. These players join former Pascagoula and University of Kentucky standout Dale Brown and former Alcorn State star Dave Whitney, Jr. as the first signees of the season.
Ratliff, 6'6" and 225 lbs., averaged 19.7 ppg and 8 rebounds per game as a post player for the University of North Texas. He received All-Southland Conference and Tournament honors as a senior. In 1991, Ratliff was voted the Southland Conference Freshman of the Year.
Through March 27, Dennis was averaging 12 ppg and 6 rpg for Wichita Falls of the CBA. Dennis, 6'11" and 205 lbs., signed with the Minnesota Timberwolves in 1993 but was released before the season. He has played extensively in Europe before coming to the CBA. He averaged 16 ppg and 7 rpg as a senior at East Tennessee State University and was a member of the United States 12-man team in 1989 at the World Qualifying Games in Mexico City.

This weekend the Gamblers will have a pre-veteran's camp in Gulfport that will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 3 p.m. until 6 p.m. There will be a scrimmage held during Sunday afternoon beginning about 3:30 p.m.
Season and miniseason ticket packages are available for the 1994 season at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum Box Office. For more information please call 1-800-896-9760.

Local bowhunters place in tourney

Boat burglars look forward to spring, too

One sure sign of spring is a big increase in the number of boats on the water. Unfortunately, another is an increase in the presence of thieves who like to steal them.
Boat theft costs boaters and their insurance companies almost $50 million a year, according to BOAT/U.S. (Boat Owners Association of the United States), the nation's largest organization of recreational boaters.
Thieves steal an average of 1,000 boats a month and BOAT/U.S. says the odds of recovering a stolen vessel aren't good: just one in ten.
Now's the time to scrub, polish, paint and generally spruce up your boat. It's also a good time to think about protecting it from thieves. BOAT/U.S. offers these tips:
• Don't make your boat an easy target for thieves. Use theft-warning decals, locks and alarm systems. Anti-theft devices aren't fool-proof, but they can make boat burglary difficult enough to discourage many crooks.

• Remove valuable items, such as electronics, especially if you plan to be away from your boat for a long time.
• If you leave your boat on a trailer, use a wheel lock or remove one of more of the wheels.
• Keep receipts for major equipment purchases and copies of boat ownership documents, as well as photos of your boat and its equipment, on shore in a secure place.
• If your boat or any of its equipment is stolen or vandalized, reporting the incident quickly to the local police and your insurance company may improve the odds of recovery.

Litter-Free ... AND PROUD TO BE!

BREWER'S WORLD

By Jimmie Brewer

Good morning, folks.
Grab your cup full of mud, open up a fresh pack of smokes, put on a smile and sit down with me for a bit.
Well, the azaleas have gone back in hibernation, the back of my neck has turned from milky white to Cajun red, and my pillow now smells of sweat in the mornings.
This can only mean one thing... school is about over, and like many of you, that means the arrival of our overly energetic bundles of joy is getting dangerously close.
Soon the Gruesome Two-some, my 10-year-old daughter English and my eight-year-old son Jimmie, will arrive at my door armed with a 200-pound suitcase and another year of growth and experience.

They no doubt will have learned some new tricks to try on their old Dad. I can assure you they will take every advantage of my parenting skills during their tenure this summer at "Camp Dad's."
And I am sure they will not have learned to love and respect each other. Oh no, my kids have been in a perfect love/hate relationship since they laid eyes on each other some eight years ago.
One minute they can be laying on the floor together laughing and watching a video they've seen a 1,000 times. The next minute one will put a leg on the other and all hell breaks loose. If I had a nickel for every time they screamed "I hate you" to each other, I could buy all the casinos in the world.
Their personalities are somewhere in between that of Mr. Rogers and head-hunting Somalians.
During one particular "tiff" last year, my daughter showed her creativity. It happened because she lost the nightly coin toss to decide who was going to take a bath first.

It just so happened, according to her, that she has never ever won, and that her brother wins always, and therefore I love him more than her — and on and on.
Instead of taking a bath she disappeared into her brother's room and piled everything on his bed. I don't just mean his baseball glove, his clothes and his Ninja Turtle, I mean EVERYTHING, his suitcase, his chair, the dresser, her suitcase, her clothes, her chair — everything in the room was on his bed.
Well, you have to applaud her creativity and her ability to stack all that stuff so high.
Maybe this year will be different. They're going to share with each other, they're going to say nice things to each other, they're going to eat what is on their plates for supper, they're not going to constantly whine or try to drown each other in the swimming pool. That's right, it's going to be a nice, peaceful summer. NOT!

Praise for do-gooders this week go out to all the "Summer Dads" who teach their kids respect and honesty and love.
Thanks again for breakfast.
Be good.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

These Springtime days, most of us much prefer working in the yard and garden to working in the kitchen; I know that I do! And yet there are still meals to be made, day in and day out, just the same.

So, if you're in the mood for an easy, tangy, custardy sort of dish which can serve as appetizer or buffet supper or brunch treat, or just a main dish for lunch or dinner, you'll not go wrong with a Spinach and Cheese Pie, a standby at my house for a long time.

This is really a quiche, (keesh) I suppose, but I call it just my spinach and cheese pie, for that's what it is, shorn of its fancy name. The quiche, a rich, savory and spicy custardy sort of pie, is a legacy from the thrifty cooks of France's countryside.

And then, on the other hand, perhaps not! Most culinary authorities say that the quiche originated in the Province of Lorraine, in France (hence the name "Quiche Lorraine" by which early versions are known) as the housewife's tasty and economical answer to budget demands, with the abundance of cream and such readily at hand.

Other experts insist that this tasty pie belongs to German cuisine and was known as a "kuchen" from which "kiche" then "quiche" might easily have evolved. Whatever, and wherever, most countries, I suppose, have their own version of this concoction.

Long years ago, the quiche was made with bread dough. Then some imaginative cook or other substituted crisp pastry in pie shell form or otherwise, for the bread. Although sweet versions of the quiche are known, it is more of a savory dish than a sweet one.

Versatile spinach and cheese pie easy to prepare, economical

There are many variations of the original quiche, which, by the way, was made without cheese, perhaps with fresh cream cheese instead of the cream called for in later recipes. Evaporated milk, I find, substitutes well for the cream.

Nowadays, you are apt to find all sorts of "tasties" in a quiche, from ham to mushrooms to seafood and so on — whatever's on hand and strikes your fancy! That's the secret, or at least one secret, of eating well without "going broke." Here's:

SPINACH AND CHEESE PIE

1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped

spinach, drained well
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup evaporated milk
1 and 2/3 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
1 can (6 oz.) sliced ripe olives
1 large onion, sliced and sauteed
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
4 drops or splashes of hot pepper sauce
Pepper, cayenne, salt to your taste

Combine all ingredients and pour into shell. Bake for half an hour at 350 degrees or until center is set. (6 servings)

Note: I have also made this pie with shredded Swiss cheese or with Monterey Jack and Parmesan combined.

'Heart healthy' food preparation class planned

"Being Heart Healthy" is a program on the risk factors associated with cardiovascular disease and the benefits of lifestyle changes in reducing risk.

Emphasis is placed on changing ways we prepare food and includes a microwave demonstration using a lean cut of beef.

The free class will be taught Wednesday, 9:30 a.m. in the meeting room of the Human Services Complex, Longfellow Road, Bay St. Louis.

Instructor is Nancy Freeman, Harrison County Extension home economist. The class is sponsored by the Hancock County Extension Service and is open to any interested individuals.

Arts fair for handicapped set for June 7-9

The 1994 Mississippi Arts Fair for the Handicapped (MAFH), co-hosted by the City of Biloxi and the south Mississippi Regional Center, will be June 7-9 at the Biloxi Community Center (on Tuesday, June 7 and Thursday, June 9), and at the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi (on Wednesday night, June 8.)

Informational displays will also be set up during the fair at the Edgewater Mall in Biloxi.

Theme of this year's statewide fair is "Arts Magnolia Style." Held annually, the MAFH showcases the talents of hundreds of Mississippians with disabilities, who will participate in a variety of music, dance, drama and arts events.

Opening ceremonies are Tuesday evening, June 7 at 6 p.m. at the Biloxi Community Center.

The public is invited. For information call (601) 868-2926.

President signs Cochran bill to help farmers

President Bill Clinton signed Senator Thad Cochran's EPA extension bill into law. The bill gives farmers more time to comply with new EPA worker protection regulations.

The regulations require safety precautions for farmworkers when using pesticides and require posted signs at entrances to treated farms.

The new guidelines would have gone into effect April 15, 1994. The compliance date is

Fall-seeded crops may be reported at signup

When producers apply for the 1994 farm programs, they may report the acreage and intended uses of their wheat, oats, barley, rye and other fall-seeded crops, according to Frank Gennin, county executive director for the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS office. The sign-up period ends April 29.

"Fall-seeded crops which are not reported by May 1 will be ineligible for program benefits," Gennin said.

He said producers who have already seeded spring crops or know the intended acreage to be planted to spring-seeded crops may also report the acreage and intended uses of these crops at signup. To be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits, producers must report their actual acreage planted for harvest.

"Producers who may be undecided about the 1994 programs, or who have questions about certifying their fall-seeded crops should contact our office for more information," the ASCS official said.

WYES-TV 12 28th Annual Showboat Auction is May 6

Set sail for excitement and bargains galore when the 28th Annual Showboat Auction steams into town Friday, May 6 through Friday, May 13.

The eight-day, bid-by-phone merchandise auction will air from 4 p.m. until midnight daily. Broadcast live from the WYES studios, viewers need only watch Channel 12 and call 486-7311 to bid on items of interest.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, APRIL 24, 1994

Diamondhead Performing Arts Society to present Charmaine Neville in concert

The Diamondhead Performing Arts Society will present Charmaine Neville and band in concert Sunday, May 1 at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Charmaine Neville

"All music is good music," says Charmaine Neville firmly. "I try to cover the whole spectrum and do just everything. I don't want to be stagnated and stuck in a rut... People ask, 'Oh, what category would you put your music in?' and I say, 'Good!'"

Born into the third generation of the New Orleans legendary musical family, Charmaine has nonetheless worked hard to get where she is and make her music known as her own. The work has paid off — as one reviewer recently wrote, "Charmaine Neville is beginning to rival her father and uncles in terms of popularity in New Orleans."

She started out backing up The Neville Brothers and went on to perform with The Survivors, a band whose alumni list includes Harry Connick Jr. and Bobby McFerrin. It was here that she first started working with saxophonist Reggie Houston.

Today, Charmaine, Reggie and keyboardist Amasa Miller co-lead the now six-piece band. Fans flock to catch them at their regular gig, Snug Harbor, as well as at the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival, where the band has become a well-known attraction.

With two new CD's ("It's About Time" and "The Gazebo Sessions") and several videos behind her, as well as host spots for WGBH Radio Boston and a nationally televised Motown special, Charmaine is at her best on stage. "I intend to do this until I'm 115 years old," she announces.

"I'll be a little old lady on a walker, going up on stage. When I go, I'll be on stage."

Reggie Houston

Reggie is a second generation New Orleans musician who not only plays great saxophone and percussion, but can be counted on for warm, jazzy vocals, a fine comedic sense, and a charismatic stage presence.

As one New Orleans reviewer writes, "Houston serves as a musical straight man to the up-and-at-'em Neville, reacting with Fats Waller-ish mock surprise to her 'Fish Fry' lyrics."

Since studying with New Orleans musicians Edward "Kid" Jordan and Alvin Batiste, Reggie has gone on to do regular gigs with such greats as Irma Thomas and Fats Domino, as well as with Charmaine and Amasa.

Reggie has also recently recorded with Buffy Saint-Marie and Peter and Band featuring

Charmaine Neville

Amasa

Amasa has been hailed as "one of the most sought-after pianists in the city, and one of the freshest contributors to the New Orleans tradition."

A New York transplant, he got hooked on New Orleans music after hearing the piano playing of Professor Longhair, Dr. John and James Booker.

Since moving to New Orleans, he has played with Aaron Neville, Linda Ronstadt, Steven Stills and Maria Muldaur, among others.

His musical influences are as varied as his talents, from classical to pop, from country/western to jazz and back to rock-and-roll, from the piano playing of Abdullah Ibrahim to jug music and Gypsy swing. To put it simply, this cat can play it all.

Tickets may be purchased at the Diamondhead Discount Drugs or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Diamondhead Performing Arts Society, P. O. Box 6028, Diamondhead, 39525. For further information, call Lori Darkow, 255-4433. Tickets will also be available at the door for $12.50 adults, $9.50 students.

ARTIN' ABOUT

Art classes offered

The Mississippi Museum of Art/Gulf Coast in Biloxi offers two sessions of children's summer art camp, a pottery workshop for teens and a pastel class.

This year's sessions will be June 7-9 and July 26-28. Cost is $35.

Pre-registration is required. The camp is open to area children ages 6 through 12.

A pottery workshop for teens, 12-18, will begin May 14 at the museum. The workshop is free.

A one-day workshop, Introduction to Pastels, is Thursday, May 5, open to adults and teens age 14 and over. The session, from 4-7:30 p.m. costs $35.

For more information, call 374-5547.

The Fantasticks
St. John High School presents "The Fantasticks" at the Saenger

Theater in Biloxi April 28 and 29. The April 28 performance starts 7:30 p.m., $5; the April 29 performances are student matinees, 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., $2.

Gulfport Little Theatre

Gulfport Little Theatre presents "Murder By Natural Causes," a mystery. A delightful "whodunit," directed by Lynda Conwell, starring Barbara Ishee, Scott Stevenson, Bill Sumrall, Tim and Elizabeth Foley, and some new faces make their Coast debuts.

Tickets are $9 adults, $6 students. For reservations call 864-7983.

Student Art Exhibit

William Carey College on the Coast presents a student art exhibition April 29-May 7.

Opening and reception is Friday, April 29, 7:30-9 p.m. at the Sarah Gillespie Gallery.

The exhibition includes drawings, paintings, sculpture and ceramics.

Guitar concert

The Winters School of Music at William Carey College presents Klasing & Loncar Guitar Duo in concert April 25 at 7 p.m. in the Lucile Parker Gallery in the Thomas Fine Arts Building on the Hattiesburg campus of William Carey College.

The performance is open to the public and free of charge. For information, call 582-6175.

Wildfowl festival

Coast artists should get entries ready to compete in the Louisiana Wildfowl Carvers and Collectors Guild 20th annual festival and arts competition August 13-14 at the Health and Physical Education Building at the University of New Orleans.

The primary emphasis of the festival is decoy carving, but has broadened to include photography, painting, pyrographic art, fish carving, miniature boats and a miscellaneous carving category.

In 1993, the competition had over 100 photographic entries and 159 carvers from around the country. Coast artists who have won in previous years include Nadine Stamm, Lois Griffin, Dan Herbold and Dr. William Clement.

For more information and contest rules call LWCCG president Bo Wolf at (504) 242-0578, another committee member or write the guild at P.O. Box 10883, New Orleans, La., 70181.

NOMA

Exhibitions on display at the New Orleans Museum of Art in until May 8 include a unique style of photographic works and a collection of Japanese ceramics.

The unique work of Russian immigrants Rimma Gerlovina and Valeriy Gerlovin is showcased in the photography exhibition of Photoglyphs.

Also on display at the museum until May 8 is a world of ceramics, from avant-garde Japanese studio works to turn-of-the-century Newcomb classics.

Modern Japanese Ceramics in American Collections offers one of the most comprehensive exhibitions of modern Japanese studio ceramics ever held in the West.

The exhibitions coincide with the annual meeting of the National Council on Education for the Ceramic Arts, held this year in New Orleans.

Anderson exhibits

The featured exhibit on display until May 1 at the Walter Anderson Museum is "Walter Anderson's Pine Trees in the Wind."

Some of the pieces included in the exhibit have become known as Anderson's "trunk paintings" — paintings his family found in a trunk in the old kiln house at Shearwater Pottery more than 20 years after his death.

The exhibit hours are Monday-Saturday 10-5 and Sunday 1-5.

BSLLT memberships

Memberships are available to the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, with several sponsorship levels.

For additional information, call Beth Benvenuti, membership chairman, 467-1402.

Submissions to Artin' About should be sent to The Sea Coast Echo, P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Notices will be edited and published on a space-available basis.

Pvt. Koerner is the son of Mary E. and Clyde Koerner Jr. of Bay St. Louis, and was a member of the Second Battalion Company F, Platoon 2153.

Pvt. Koerner was an honor graduate, received a Certificate of Merit and a Marksmanship Medal for being his platoon's high shooter.

Besides his parents, Pvt. Koerner's graduation was attended by his grandmother, Mrs. Nina S. Garcia; his godfather, Edward Madere; his fiancée, Lisa Marie Penton; and her parents, Ronald and Barbara Penton of Lakeshore.

After a 10-day leave, Pvt. Koerner will report to Camp Lejeune, N.C. for more training before being sent to a base in the United States or overseas.

USM to host Army Schools June 2-Aug. 5

Approximately 2,000 uniformed personnel will train on the University of Southern Mississippi campus this summer during four two-week military schools scheduled from June 2 through Aug. 5.

Active U.S. Army, Reserve and National Guardsmen will participate from the U.S. 2nd Army geographic area — including soldiers from Charlotte, N.C., Birmingham, Ala. and Lexington, Ky. Army staff will arrive at USM May 26 to prepare for the classes.

Officials of the U.S. 2nd Army and USM signed a new three-year, $1.8 million contract in March that allows USM to host the summer military schools. This summer will mark the 28th consecutive year USM has hosted the Army school.

tuition assistance

TO: JAMES H. GARNER, recently signed a bill that increased the amount of tuition assistance available to Mississippi National Guard members under the State Education Assistance Program (SEAP).

Maj. Gen. James H. Garner said the new bill doubles the program's previous benefits. Under the new law, active members of the Mississippi National Guard enrolled full time in junior college level institutions within Mississippi are eligible to receive $1,060 per year toward tuition (only) expenses, while those enrolled full time in one of Mississippi's four-year colleges or universities are entitled to $2,100 per year (July 1 through June 30).

Garner said the legislature has seen the benefit of higher education within the state, and realizes the bill's passage will ultimately enhance both the Mississippi National Guard and the state.

"Educational and military training combine to help make Mississippi National Guard members among the most employable citizens of the state," said Garner, "and employability of Mississippi's workforce has a direct impact on those industries looking to build or expand their operations in the state."

Eligibility for SEAP requires that Guard members be a Mississippi resident and a registered voter; they must also incur an initial six-year military obligation; and maintain a 2.0 (or better) grade point average in undergraduate (only) studies at an accredited Mississippi institution of higher learning.

Ingalls given go-ahead to build foreign subs

"We're extremely pleased that the Navy and State Department have reversed their earlier efforts to block Ingalls from building foreign-designed U.S. submarines for export," said U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor.

"This issue has been of particular concern to me since 1991. At the request of Ingalls I worked with my colleagues on the former Seapower Subcommittee tee and Navy officials to see this unfair Navy policy changed.

"Diesel subs are used by a wealth of nations all over the world, and it is fantastic that Ingalls will be given the chance to compete in this global market.

"This is yet another great opportunity for Ingalls and its workers to prove that they do build the finest ships in the world."

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

Bay St. Louis Business of the Year Carter Church Designs

Carter Church Designs opened in Bay St. Louis in 1988. The essence of the business is the talent of its owner, Carter Church, a New Orleans native who chose Bay St. Louis as his home and design headquarters. Bay St. Louis offered him a much more creative atmosphere in which to design couture fashions and his famed Mardi Gras royalty costumes for Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama krewees.

Church has been honored by his peers through Fashion Group International with over 80 awards spanning his 25-year career, including the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award.

Active in many local charity and civic endeavors, Church is especially active in the annual "A Place of Art" tour sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Development Foundation and is one of its first charter artists.

Church has encouraged many of his friends to not only visit, but to invest in the Bay St. Louis and Hancock County community in the purchase of part- or full-time homes and local businesses.

Carter Church and Carter Church Designs have introduced an international market to Bay St. Louis, reinforced our creative image nationally and helped continue to legend of Bay St. Louis as "A Place Apart."

Waveland Business of the Year Jack's Restaurant and Lounge

Jack's Restaurant and Lounge was opened originally as Marti's Deli and became Jack's Restaurant and Lounge when Nancy Fintel, who was also the chef, took over the Coleman Avenue business.

The present owner, Donna Holt, started working there in 1976, waiting tables when she was a teenager. In 1989 she and her husband, Al, purchased this business from Nancy Fintel, and Al became the chef. Since then, the Holts have improved and upgraded what was already a great dining experience.

Donna and Al are the parents of two children, Jared and Katy.

Award of Excellence

Star Export Services Inc.

Star Export opened for business at Port Bienville in 1978. The company leases the port from the county and operates it as a public port, managing the facilities and providing warehouse and stevedore services. There are 26 employees on the Star Export payroll. Peter Martikes is president of the company.

Star Export is an extension of Atlas Powder International, and both companies are owned by ICI Explosives USA of Dallas. The parent company is ICI of England.

Over the last several years, Star Export has seen a tremendous growth in man-hours and tonnage handled at the port. Man-hours in 1991 totaled 47,570; last year that figure rose to 69,971. Volume of tonnage also increased dramatically, and now there are four ships using the port on a regular basis. In 1988 the port handled 27,318 tons; in 1993, tonnage was 65,675.

Star Export Services' expertise in operating the port has enhanced the county's ability to attract business, and future growth is anticipated at Port Bienville because of the company's capabilities.

Industry of the Year Alcan Cable

Alcan Cable opened in Bay St. Louis in 1975 with 44 employees, and for the next five years served as a warehouse while the company prepared for production. The official dedication of the plant was held in March, 1980.

Today, Alcan's 130 employees produce 600-volt overhead and underground service entrance cable, which brings electricity from the street to homes and businesses. Alcan in Bay St. Louis sells approximately $60 million of cable a year to customers across the country, including public utilities and electric membership co-ops. Most of the cable produced in Bay St. Louis is sold directly to utilities or through a network of electrical distributors who in turn sell the product to smaller utilities and electrical contractors.

Alcan Cable is a division of Alcan Aluminum Corp. of Cleveland, Ohio. Pierre Langevin is the plant manager of Alcan's Bay St. Louis facility.

Diamondhead Business of the Year Betty Adams/Southern Child

Betty Adams became a Diamondhead businesswoman in November 1981 when she rented her store, Southern Charm, from Purcell in their Bali Hi Shopping Mall. The gift shop opened February 1, 1982, and was originally intended to be a hobby for Betty. In 1983 she "lured" her husband, Joe, into opening a cleaning service next door. The couple moved their businesses into the new mall in the summer of 1984, at which time Betty added a nationally franchised Hallmark Card Shop. Joe again had the adjoining space, adding a laundromat to his growing operation. In August 1992, Betty opened Southern Child, a complete children's clothing, toy and gift shop in the space next to her original store.

Betty was one of the three founders of the Diamondhead Business and Professional Association. She is a charter member of the Diamondhead Rotary Association and is a founder of St. Thomas Episcopal Church and the Diamondhead Academy.

Hancock County Business of the Year Armand's

Chef Armand Jonte honed his culinary skills at Gautreau's in New Orleans before becoming chef at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Today, his fine-dining restaurant on Highway 90 in Waveland offers creative dining in a Creole manner. Armand changes the restaurant's menu daily, and prepares international specialties for his customers, who come from up and down the Coast, New Orleans and beyond. Food critics as well as customers all give Armand's high marks. And television viewers from across the country will get a taste of this local restaurant when Armand is featured on the television series, Great Chefs: Louisiana's New Guard. Armand was the only chef from Mississippi selected for this honor.

Gear up for sports with the Sports Connection

Just in time for baseball season, a seasonal store has opened the Sports Connection in Waveland.

Richard Santiago, owner of the Sports Connection located at 304 B Highway 90, has six years experience as a Little League coach. The local sports shop, co-owned by Frank Miller, stocks a vast array of sporting goods and equipment, men's and ladies' athletic shoes for sports enthusiasts, including brands such as Asics and Reebok.

If you can't find that something special, the Sports Connection will be more than glad to order it for you.

The shelves at Sports Connection are well stocked with equipment for baseball, football, soccer and more. No need to shop out of town anymore for your equipment including cleats, baseballs, bats, caps, NCAA apparel, NFL apparel and Major League apparel.

Catchers and umpires will find their equipment in stock too! The Sports Connection is pleased to offer team prices as well.

For more information, visit Richard or Frank at the Sports Connection or call 467-6723.

New business makes a splash in Bay St. Louis

Water Fun, located at 525 Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis, recently opened its doors for business. Owners Romy and Claire Yavuzer have been in the pool business since 1989 in New Orleans. Both felt there was a demand for quality service technicians on the Gulf Coast and decided to relocate their business and residence to Bay St. Louis.

"We are quickly adapting to the easy living here," says Claire. This new business offers more than just above-ground pools and spas. They stock Omni chemicals, a wide variety of Sevylor inflatable pool toys and they boast, "the largest selection of parts in town".

"Service is our #1 priority," states Romy and he proudly stands behind his word with a full 1 year warranty on labor.

Visit Water Fun 6 days a week. They are closed on Tuesdays but are open on Sundays offering in-store repairs. For more information call 466-4672.
